“ Dear Jackie, Naftan, Jonathan, Ross, Michelle and all your spouses and children,

I feel so disconnected and connected at the same time. I guess that is the challenge of distance and the power of the Internet. Today's memorial service was incredibly moving. I wish I could have been there in person to tell you how sorry I am for your loss and to offer each of you a hug and convey my gratitude for sharing your family with me.

I have many vivid memories of spending time at your house growing up. One that comes to mind happened when I was in my tweens. Jackie and my mom were busy with toddlers, I think, because I don't remember them around, and they would have had a few choice words for what transpired...

We (Naftan, Jonathan, Becca, Ilana, Ross and I) were playing hide-and-seek outside and Hal and my dad were sitting on the patio in case of emergency. They happened to be drinking beer, which I think is the only time I ever saw my dad drink beer! Once my hiding spot was discovered, I went over to the patio to hang with the dads. I honestly don't know how it happened, but Hal convinced my dad to give me a sip from his bottle! In hindsight, it was probably Hal's talent for reason and persuasion. Needless to say, I thought it was disgusting and never once thought to drink it again. I'm sure that was Hal's goal. He laughed at the face I made after that one sip.

I can hear Hal's laugh (mingled with my dad's) in nearly every memory. He was also the only person I knew who could carry off the double-eyed wink, which I considered his trademark.

May his memory be a blessing.

*Love,
Stacey*

“ I am really missing Zayde right now. I don't have the words right now to say how much Zayde means to me right now, but I know he is reunited with his 3 siblings and parents and many other relatives up in heaven.

“ Dear Jackie and family,

I will never forget the day our friendship started about 20 years ago over a sweet dog, Farfel. Elyssa offered to let him stay at our house for a couple weeks while Jackie and Hal went to Israel. Not being a dog person, I was a bit tenuous about the idea, but I gave in, and quickly fell in love with Farfel.

Our friendship evolved over the years, through thick and thin. It is a friendship that we will cherish forever.

Hal was everything described in his obituary, and more. He was definitely friendly, sweet, kind, and giving. He loved his family to the fullest extent possible. And, they loved him to no end. I saw how difficult the past few years were on the family. Jackie, I give you so many accolades for keeping Hal at home for as long as possible. You are a most amazing woman.

May Hal rest in the peace he deserves. May his memory be for a blessing.

Mike joins me in sending our deepest sympathy to his loving, kind and beautiful family.

Love,
