“ Barry Barbara and girls and Randy and Janie we're so sorry to hear of your Jean's passing. My memories of Jean was watching her at family gatherings. She was the biggest cheerleader. She was so proud of all of you, especially her granddaughters. It's so special that she had such a close bond with all of you. The way she watched and glowed with such pride of her family; priceless. I feel blessed I knew Jean and especially to see a family so devoted to their parent/grandparent. I am certain she had the best and loving care as Barry was determined to meet her needs. That is special. Virtual hugs. Thinking of all of you. Barbara now who do you call in the morning?!

“ Barry, Randy, and families,
I am so sorry to hear of the loss of your mother. She was always nice to me when we were kids, even though I didn't hang out with you guys very much. I remember how worked up she would get when she was teaching the neighborhood ladies to play Mah Jongg, but that never lasted too long! And I know that my mom had fun at their get-togethers. Please accept my deepest sympathy. -Kim McNamara

“ Barry, you'll hear many nice memories from family and friends, but I think I'll be the only one with this story: We were outside, and your mom came out and said she was making you and Randy French toast for lunch.

"What's French toast?" I asked.

"You've never had French toast?" she replied. "You come in and you can have some, too."

So thanks to you mom, that's how I first had French toast.
