

Sandra E. Golob

May 28, 1942 - December 5, 2020

Age 78, died of Covid-19 on December 5, 2020. Thanks to Park Nicollet Methodist Hospital Hospice, she was at peace when she finally passed away. Sandra was preceded in death by parents, Eli and Helen; and sister, Rochelle. She is survived by brother, Bruce Golob (Jean Freeman); nephews, Barry (Alyssa), Mitchell (Amber) and their children. A difficult life for a generous spirit. A private burial will be held.

Comments

“ Just saw the obituary. Sorry for your loss She was so proud of the boys and their families

Barbara Walstein - January 18 at 02:09 AM

“ Bruce I am so sorry for the loss of your sister especially during the holidays. She will forever be in your heart. You are in my thoughts and prayers.

Pamela Preiss - December 19, 2020 at 01:54 PM

“ sending deepest sympathy - I knew Sandra from the north side ... marsha wolk

Frank Freedman - December 16, 2020 at 01:31 PM

“ I am very saddened at the loss of my Aunt Sandy. Although we were not able to see each other in person in recent years, she was a very special part of my life and especially my childhood. Every time I saw her, she gave me a heavily curated collection of treasures that she found from thrift stores, garage sales, and other interesting places. From the rare to the kitsch, these things were wonderful little items of fun. Metal anime robots, comic strips, strange figurines, and other things you couldn't find at a "regular" toy store. Even after I moved away from Minnesota, she continued to send fun and interesting things my way, even sending them to our daughter Macy after she was born.

These trinkets were a way of Sandy showing her love, and I always knew she was thinking about me even when we didn't see each other. She taught me to find joy in the small things, and why it was cool to be goofy and weird and strange...

I appreciated and loved her, and hope she is a peace.

-Mitch Golob (with Amber, Macy, and Zachary Golob)

Mitch Golob - December 09, 2020 at 12:38 PM

“ Lovely Mitch

Bruce Golob - December 09, 2020 at 04:14 PM

“ Barry and Allysa and the Golob Family; I am very sorry to learn about the loss of your dear aunt and beloved family member. Sending you peace and comfort while you are mourning her.

Gail R Freedman - December 07, 2020 at 10:37 AM